But pretty soon the mercury the hundred mark will And then, in classic verbiage, the weather'll be a peach! Washington is having warm times, all right; there's no doubt about that. The concrete is creased with wheel tracks and hoofprints; the summer girl has bloomed forth in diaphanous daintiness; the shirtwaist man is giving her a close race for first place, and handkerchiefs and fans are being overworked. Correct young men ob-serve with dismay that the ends of their noses are acquiring a decided alcoholic tinge, and fair maidens send horror-struck glances at mirrors which denote freckles in their complexions. Seaside and mountain resorts and country boarding houses are filling up, and the city plodders are filling up, too—with regrets that they can't hie themselves away to similar places.

A Philosopher Turns Up. Every calamity has its philosopher, however, and the present hot snap has produced one. He was on F street this afternoon looking as cool as a clam and as imperturbable as a mud turtle. An acquaintance accosted him with the usual inquiry

"Young man," interjected the solon of this solstice, "pause and reflect. Try to remember that summer only began last week and that nearly three months of it is to come. Why try to drown yourself in the waves of misery, when you are as yet only paddling on the beach, so to speak? Pre-serve yourself, my boy, preserve yourself. If the June sun seems torrid, think of the orb in July, when it will be horrid; in August, when, in conjunction with the dog days, it will be horrider, and in September, when it will be horrider yet. Be calm, my boy. You'll find you'll be cooler. Eschew boy. You'll find you'll be cooler. Eschew that high, stylish collar and shuck that embracing coat, but, more than all, don't

The inquirer looked at his friend en-

"Let's go get a kangaroo," he suggested. "I'll go you," responded the philosopher.
While they were quaffing it, others who seek relief through the diaphragm, were also investigating certain other decoctions, hard and soft, the former being largely flavored with mint or limes, and the latter with fee cream of various complexions swimming in sparkling soda water. Others sought the electric cars to receive the relieving breezes, and in one way or another everybody tried to suffer as little from the heat as possible. Misery Loves Company.

Misery, it is said, loves company, consequently it may be gratifying to Washingtonians to know that there are others not only as bad, but worse off when it comes to weather. When the weather bureau thermometer marked 90 in the shade here yesterday instruments under the same official auspices at St. Louis, Mo., and North Platte, Neb., recorded 100 degrees, Kansas City and Springfield, Ill., enjoyed 98 de-grees and St. Paul and Omaha, and even Denver, sweltered along with 96 each. against its use was insomnia, followed by depression and despondency. The nervous system was in such a condition that I could not attend to business, and to my distress I discovered that my eyesight was becoming more and more imperfect every day. From my knowledge of the symptoms of coffee poisoning, I concluded to leave off the coffee and take up Postum Food Coffee in its place. "The results were astonishing. Gradually my eyesight recovered, and the nervous condition and depressed feeling disappeared. I have now been using Postum in place of coffee for several years, and am in perfect health. "My family of six persons discarded coffee some time ago and use Postum. I would not be without it. It is a most valuable addition to the breakfast table, and should be in every household."

WARRING ON MOSQUITOES

CIRCULAR ISSUED BY SURGEON GEN-ERAL WYMAN.

Importance of Excluding Insects From Hospitals Pointed Out-Prevention of Diseases.

Dr. Walter Wyman, surgeon general of the marine hospital service, has sent to the surgeons and officials of that service an important and interesting circular bearing on the transmission of disease by mosquitoes and other insects.

The circular is as follows: "Your attention is directed to the importance of insects as factors in the conveyance of disease. There is no longer doubt as to the relation of the mosquito to the malarial diseases and to filariasis. According to Simond, plague is transmitted from the rat to man by the flea. The infection of typhoid fever, and to a certain extent cholera, may be conveyed from the excreta by flies. According to the recent work of the army commission the mosquito plays an important role in the transmission of yellow fever.

"You are therefore directed to give par-ticular attention to this subject so far as it relates to the work of the service in quarantine and the prevention of the spread of communicable diseases. You are advised to carefully guard patients suffering with said diseases from the bites or annoyances of the insects above mentioned, and to this end to place mosquito netting over the sick bed. Excreta must be treated in a manner to prevent their becoming food or breeding places for insects. Hospitals where com-municable diseases are treated should be thoroughly protected with fly screens at all windows, doors and other openings, particular attention being paid to the kitchen, dining room and protection of the food. Should mosquitoes, flies or other in-sects gain entrance to the wards they should be at once destroyed

"The best method of killing insects in a large room is by sulphur fumigation. Formaldehyd cannot be depended upon, for it frequently fails to kill insects. Pyrethrum powder when burned in an inclosure only stupifies mosquitoes and flies, and when used these insects must be subsequently "You are also directed to guard against the breeding of mosquitoes about marine hospital reservations, quarantine stations and camps, by the methods now in vogue. Collections of water in buckets, barrels, cisterns and the like are favorite places for the breeding of mosquitoes. Such collec-tions should be carefully covered, or, if a cover is not practicable, petroleum should be poured on the surface and replenished from time to time. All collections of stagnant water, pools, ditches and the like about the reservation should be drained, or, if impracticable, petroleum used as above. Approximately, one ounce is suffi-cient in still water for fifteen square feet of surface, and ordinarily the application need not be renewed for one month. Concerning the cultivation of certain plants and trees and other means of exterminating mosquitoes you are referred to the works of Giles and Howard, which have recently been funished your station.

"As far as ships are concerned, particular attention should be paid to the water tanks, casks, buckets and other water col-view to the destruction of possible mos quitoes or their larvae." MUST BE A REAL REPUBLIC.

Senator Platt Says No Sham Govern ment in Cuba. A dispatch from New York says: The next issue of the Independent will contain a paper under the caption, "The Pacification of Cuba," written by Senator Orville H. Platt. In closing, the writer uses these words: "One question must be asked. Will the new government succeed? Some conditions in Cuba are favorable to success, some are not. The United States cannot be satisfied with the ordinary South American re-that will insure our peace and quiet and safeguard our interests there. A mere paper republic with a virtual dictator or con stantly recurring revolutions would be nearly as disastrous to Cuba and dangerous to the United States as was the Spanish domination to which we put an end."

Not in District Jurisdiction. Upon investigation it was found by the prosecuting attorneys of the Police Court that on account of lack of jurisdiction Anna Myles, colored, could not be prosecuted within the District on the charge of assault preferred by Blanche Seymour of 54 C street northwest. It is alleged that while returning from Notley Hall on the River Queen Monday night the Myles woman stabbed Blanche about the Under New Management.
